

OLD CONCERN HAS BECOME NEW ONE

E. T. Faulkner Co. Changes to the Faulkner and Warriner Co., Incorporated.

GROWING DRY GOODS HOUSE

Ample Capital, Experienced Men, Large and Commodious Building the Combination.

A new dry goods concern at a well known and popular old stand, will open up for business to-morrow morning. The E. T. Faulkner Company, incorporated, which for the past four years has been doing a flourishing business in the conduct of an up-to-date dry goods and notion business at the corner of First and Broad Streets, is no more, but the Faulkner and Warriner Company, incorporated, will be on deck at the old stand to-morrow morning.

The incorporators of the new and larger concern are W. A. Cheatwood, president, J. C. Warriner, secretary, and E. T. Faulkner, treasurer. The capital stock is $50,000. This change and consequent enlargement of business was made necessary by the rapid growth of the business of the E. T. Faulkner Company.

Mr. Warriner, the new member of the concern, is well known to the buyers of dry goods in Richmond. For twelve years past he has been with Fourquean, Temple and Company, and as buyer for all of the departments of that well known establishment, has become so familiar with the wants of the Richmond public as with the alphabet. Mr. Warriner has literally grown up in the dry goods and notion business of Richmond, and he is regarded as one of the best buyers in the South, his familiarity with goods and with the demands of the Virginia trade enabling him to always carry a clean and up-to-date stock.

Mr. E. T. Faulkner, the other active member of the concern, got his training for the business with the well known house of Miller and Rhoads, with which he started in 1892, after having had two years' experience in a smaller house. He remained with Miller and Rhoads twelve years, and in 1904 organized the E. T. Faulkner Company and opened up for himself at the corner of First and Broad Streets.

Winners From the Start

The business, under Mr. Faulkner's wise and progressive management, was a winner from the start and has grown from year to year until further enlargement necessitated the introduction of more interested force and this is the reason for the appearance of Mr. Warriner on the scene.

The store occupied by the company is one hundred and thirty-one feet deep, and has four well lighted and conveniently arranged floors, connected by the best and safest of elevators. The house will carry a complete and perfect stock of dry goods, notions, ladies' ready-to-wear goods of all descriptions, gents' furnishings, &c., and everything will be strictly up-to-date in all respects. All business in this establishment both buying and selling has always been done, and will continue to be done, on a strictly cash principle.

"THE SIGN OF THE CROSS."

Played to Two Large Audiences at the Academy.

"The Sign of the Cross," which was played twice at the Academy on yesterday, well received by audiences that filled the house.

The play, while not as well presented when last here, is strong and vivid, appealing to the serious thinking people and teaching a Scriptural lesson.

Mr. Frank Smith played the part of Marcus Superbus acceptably and looked the noble Roman to perfection.

Miss Alberta Keen as Merula, the Christian maiden, was well received, and Mr. Henry E. Hambro as Glabrio furnished a bit of good comedy now and then.

The religious drama pleased the audience, and that's for that object are plays written.

One bit of comedy, not in the play, was amusing.

The orchestra played "rag time" between the acts of the serious and blood-curdling production; "coon songs" followed fast upon the dolorous chants of the dying Christian.

This is not a criticism—only a note of what happened. It takes a lot of people to make a world and perhaps those who didn't like the chant enjoyed the "rag time," and vice versa.

General Johnston's Campaign.

Governor Swanson, Lieutenant-Governor Ellyson and the members of both houses of the Legislature have been invited by Lee Camp Confederate Veterans, to be the guests of the camp on the evening of February 16th, on which occasion Mr. Robert M. Hughes, of Norfolk, will deliver an address on the campaigns of General Joseph E. Johnston.

Mule Trade Immense.

S. P. Clay, the proprietor of the Clay horse and mule stables, Nineteenth and Franklin Streets, has just received the largest shipment of mules that ever came to a southern market at one haul. The demand for mules on Virginia farms, and railroad and mining works is greater than ever before known, and Mr. Clay is preparing to meet it. The present shipment is valued at $30,000.

CALL DR. MOORE.

Will Try to Get the Head of Vernon Seminary As a Pastor.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) GREENSBORO, N. C., February 3.—There are well defined rumors here that an effort is being made to induce Rev. Dr. W. W. Moore, president of the Union Theological Seminary, of Richmond, to return to his native State and become pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, to fill the vacancy caused by the transfer of Rev. Dr. W. Smith to Louisville. Dr. Moore will preach in the church here next Sunday and Sunday night, and will lecture here for the benefit of the Guilford College library fund the night of February 15th.

TUCKER THINKS MEASURE IS SAFE

Exposition President Believes Congress Will Vote to Take Care of Own Exhibit.

RECOGNIZED HIS LECTURE

Former U. of V. Instructor Was Pleased to Discover His Teachings in Sherley's Speech.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., February 3.—Representative Bowie, of Alabama, is inclined to the belief that there are about as many "speak-easies" in the country as there are licensed saloons. He told The Times-Dispatch correspondent to-day that he had collected figures which showed that in the seven States of Alabama, Georgia, Maine, Louisiana, Kentucky, Delaware and Michigan, there are now 11,370 saloons operating without a license.

Mr. Bowie has not collected data on the amount of unlicensed liquor selling places in other States. It is said that the number of unlicensed saloons in the States in which there is prohibition or local option is a great number of counties is greater than in States where license is granted with little difficulty, a self-evident proposition.

Tucker Sure Bill Will Pass.

Hon. Harry S. George Tucker, president of the Jamestown Exposition Company, is now back in Washington and will spend the winter here looking after the bill making an appropriation of $1,340,000 to the exposition.

Mr. Tucker called attention to the fact this morning that there is not a penny of this money to go to the exposition company, but that all of it is to be expended on government exhibits and buildings. Mr. Tucker says he believes the committee will report the bill favorably, despite the fact that Chairman Gardner is opposed to all appropriations to expositions.

Representative Swanson did not make a careful job of cleaning up his desk and office property in going to Richmond to take oath of office as Governor. In fact, many of the Governor's papers were left in his desk in the House and in his committee room. These are being gathered up by "Joe" Sinnott, of Richmond, Democratic employee of the House. Sinnott says he is the defacto money man from the Fifth District, though he is not voting nor drawing salary commensurate with that which the Representative received.

Sherley An Apt Student.

Representative Sherley, of the Louisville district, who recently made possibly the ablest speech that has been delivered in Congress on the proposition to give to the government the power to regulate railroad rates and insurance, has received a humorous letter from Professor James R. Gilmore, who was his instructor in constitutional law at the University of Virginia. Two years ago, Professor Gilmore, who is now retired, wrote Mr. Sherley that when the latter was a student under him he always gave him good marks, not that he knew he deserved them, but he wrote such a bad hand he could never read his examination papers. He wrote that he was happy to learn from his speech that he had learned his lessons well, as he recognized one of his own lectures on the Constitution. Continuing, the professor paid a nice compliment to the young Kentuckian, who is really one of the ablest men in the House.

THE WIVES OF WEED.

The Third Woman in the Case Holds His Note.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) FAYETTEVILLE, N. C., February 3.—In the Weed matter, Mrs. E. B. Weed, of Michigan, is still here. Confiding in what she believes to be a strong case, she has employed counsel to vindicate her rights.

Mrs. Weed, residing at "Pine View," up to 1 o'clock to-day had declined to see Mrs. Weed, of Michigan, acting with reserve and standing on the position as widow of the late E. B. Weed, recognized in this community on his death and up to the coming of the Michigan Mrs. Weed. She declines to be interviewed. The resident Mrs. Weed was summoned to the New York Hospital on the fatal illness of the late E. B. Weed.

There is a rumor, unconfirmed, that a New York sweetheart, who was to marry the late E. B. Weed, and was for a time at Pineview, holds his note for a Big Fire at Valdosta.

VALDOSTA, GA., February 3.—A fire starting shortly after noon to-day, in the paint shop of the Henderson-Cranford Buggy Company, caused a loss of $125,000. The property destroyed, beside the plant of the buggy company, included the Georgia Southern Railroad freight depot, eight freight cars, loaded, two blocks of cottages, the Valdosta laundry, and Armour Company warehouse. The heaviest losses are the Henderson-Cranford Buggy Company, which carried a stock valued at $50,000 and occupied a building worth $30,000. The company carried insurance for about two-thirds of this loss. Their losses were from $15,000 to $20,000. Much of the merchandise in the depot was carried out, though considerably damaged.

RICHMOND MAN AFTER GOVERNMENT FUNDS

John E. Robinson Renews Efforts to Collect Rental of Buildings Used After War.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) WORCESTER, MASS., February 3.—Charles S. Webster has been retained as counsel to attend to the legal details surrounding a claim against the United States government filed with the government thirty-eight years ago. John E. Robinson, of Richmond, Va., who makes his headquarters in Boston, being a traveling salesman for a firm in that city, is the claimant. The claim was filed by Robinson's guardian, as he was a minor at that time. The claim is for rental of buildings in Richmond, which were taken by the government after the close of the Civil War and used for storage purposes. A former attorney of record for Mr. Robinson in the proceeding having since died, the matter has been placed in the hands of Mr. Webster.

COURT AMAZED AT HIS MEMORY

Witness Sterley in Greene-Gaynor Trial Displayed Remarkable Familiarity With Dates.

COURT ADMONISHES JURORS

Judge Speer Emphasizes the Importance of Providing Protection for Treasury.

(By Associated Press.) SAVANNAH, February 3.—But one witness occupied the stand during today's sessions of the Federal Court in the case against Greene and Gaynor. This was J. W. O. Sterley, whose familiarity with dates and other information regarding river and harbor contracts and improvements was shown to be so intimate as to call forth a comment from the court touching the excellent memory of the witness.

Mr. Sterley was questioned closely by both the district attorney and counsel for the accused. He was unshaken in his attitude of condemnation of methods that were followed by Captain Carter in the administration of his office as director of engineering work. The witness was chief clerk under Captain Carter and his immediate predecessor and he retained the post under succeeding heads of the Savannah district.

The evidence related almost exclusively to the advertisement for proposals on the big contract of 1896 for the Savannah harbor, the government's contention, being that Carter, for the benefit of himself and Green and Gaynor, adopted methods that tended to the elimination of all other contractors and the consequent securing of the big enterprise to Greene and Gaynor.

Judge Admonishes Jury.

On adjourning until Monday, Judge Speer said in part: "Gentlemen of the jury: It is most important that both you and I should every day strive fully to realize the importance of the arduous labor in which we are engaged.

"We must realize that this prosecution, proper, is intended not only to bring the accused to justice, if they are convicted conformably to law, but for the protection of the large sums gathered from the people by taxation and placed in the hands of the disbursing officers of the government or other trust officers.

"Profligacy in the misuse or unlawful diversion of public funds, as much perhaps as any other one cause, has contributed to the downfall of nations, even the most prosperous. Especially important in these days when such vast expenditures are being made for the public welfare, is the judicial protection afforded by courts and juries to the public treasury. Think for a moment of the enormous sums appropriated for the construction of the Panama Canal, for public buildings, for all sorts of public improvements. Not less important is your protection of the accused in their constitutional rights to a thorough investigation and an impartial trial. These, indeed, are as essential to the public welfare as the protection of the public money or any other duty of government. Now I know this task which has fallen to your lot is laborious and painful.

"It is particularly hard for you to be away from your homes at this season of the year. It is hard on all of us. You must, however, think of the patriotic and conspicuous character of the service to the entire country we are called on to perform.

"If we are thus animated to the end of the trial we may be sure of a righteous result, which will receive the approbation of our conscience and country as long as we live."

New Telegraph Line

GLOUCESTER C. H., VA., February 3. A telegraph line, owned and operated by the Tidewater Telephone Company, has been run from West Point to Gloucester Courthouse. This office is known as Gloucester Junction. The line was built by the superintendent of the Tidewater Telephone Company, Mr. L. C. Catlett, in seven days.

This, however, is not the first telegraph wire in Gloucester county, as during the war the Federal troops built one from West Point to Gloucester Point. It was protected by a military order, which threatened the burning of houses extending five miles on each side of the line.

LYNCHBURG, VA., February 3.—The Oakwood Club Bowling team, of this city, has accepted the challenge of the team of the Treasury Department in Washington, to bowl for the championship of Virginia and the District of Columbia. The Model Dog.

The Boston terrier is a development of the English fighting dog known as the bull-terrier. The breed originated from a cross between the bulldog and terrier, but the Boston terrier is now neither a mongrel nor a frank. He seems to inherit rather the virtues than the vices of his ancestors. He possesses much of the faithful and tenacious of the bulldog, and the activity of the terrier. He is essentially a house dog and is as companionable, affectionate and trustworthy as any other small dog. These qualities are winning new friends for him every day.—Country Life in America, for February.

Governors' Messages in 1906.

This is a year when the messages of the Governors are being read with unusual interest. Governor Horner's bold denunciation of the lobby in Ohio, Governor Warfield's severe criticism of the reckless squandering of Higgins's outspoken and suggestive message in New York are all indications of the decided trend of public sentiment toward better reading. That of Governor Higgins, of New York, is attacking the widest attention by cause of the space it devotes to the question of insurance reform. Perhaps no matter of greater interest is before the public.—From Leslie's Weekly.
